Excerpt from Pocket Edition, 1928: Brighten the Corner Where You Are With Flowers In preparing the soil, we find the use of well-rotted manure gives the best results. (be sure it is well rotted). It should be plowed or spaded into the soil to a depth of at least 6 inches. In planting in drills, furrow or dig out to about 6 inches deep. Sprinkle on one side of a drill a good potato fertilizer; then rake in, mixing the fertilizer with the soil, until the drill is about 4 inches deep, The potato fertilizer is simply to give the bulbs a good start, and the manure to carry out the further development. Avoid using new manure, as it is high in ammonia, making it very harmful. New manure can be used if spaded or plowed into the ground in the fall. In case you cannot get well-rotted manure, sheep dressing is very good. Many growers use a combination of potato fertilizer and bone meal, mixed in equal parts. Gladioli can be grown in this way with very good results, but the flowers do not stand up as well, the petals not having as heavy a texture as when grown with manure. The bulbs should be planted at least 4 inches deep, and from 4 to 6 inches apart, to get best results. We plant in double rows, in drills at least two feet apart. Gladioli can be planted in beds, like tulips. In this case we advise planting a mixture of early, mid summer, and late varieties, thus giving a continual bloom. Gladioli grown in a hedge, with dahlias as a back ground, make a beautiful showing. In doing this be sure to leave a space of at least feet between gladioli and dahlias, to prevent any possible shading by the dahlias. Avoid shady places, as gladioli grow best in the open. In case the season is dry a good watering once every ten days or two weeks is very beneficial. Soak the soil to a depth of 6 inches or more. A light watering does more harm than good, as it gives the feeders a tendency to work toward the surface, rather than downward. After a rain, or watering, the soil should be stirred to a depth of 1 to inches, to retain the moisture. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Originating in Japan in the twelfth century, surimi is refined fish myofibrillar proteins produced through various processes. The development of the surimi product crabstick in Japan in the 1970s played a major role in globalizing surimi and expanding surimi seafood consumption to the United States, Europe, and Russia. Commercial surimi production has also changed significantly. Surimi and Surimi Seafood, Third Edition covers the resources, production, technology, and nutrition of surimi and surimi seafood. Like the previous editions, this reference serves as a global surimi and surimi seafood industry guide. Revised and expanded, this new edition adds the most up-to-date information on the science of surimi and surimi seafood, with an increase from 17 to 23 chapters coauthored by 63 scientists and industry leaders. Presenting broader, more in-depth content, highlights include historical reviews of the surimi technology and industry, comminution technology and application, coproduct utilization, and nutrition and health benefits. The text examines topics related to surimi and fish proteins, including gelation chemistry, proteolytic enzymes, and stabilization of proteins. This edition covers the production of various surimi seafood products: seafood paste, crabsticks, kamaboko, chikuwa, tempura, fish balls, and fish sausage. It discusses quality and production aspects, such as waste management, microbiology and pasteurization, ingredient technology, color measurement and colorants, seafood flavors, and sensory science applications. It also contains a chapter on research and development that can serve as a tool for insights on new product development.
